

Supplementary Fig. 1. Causes and timing of multiple emergency room (ER) visits. In our series, instances of multiple ER visits occurred in 10 patients with treatment-related ER visits and four patients with treatment-unrelated visits. Most of these multiple ER visits were due to the same causes at each visit, apart from two patients in the treatment-related category. These two patients, identified as no. 8 and no. 9, each visited the ER four times. Patient no. 8 presented with surgical site bleeding on two occasions and experienced issues with a jejunostomy tube for tube feeding on two other occasions. Patient no. 9 visited the ER twice due to complications related to concurrent chemoradiation and twice due to pleural effusion.